How to Use These Cards

- After presenting the mission report or at the end of Sabbath School, give the children the corresponding mission card. Remind them to pray for the child/children featured on the card during the week.

- The following week, hold up the previous week’s card and ask the children what they remember about that child or their story.

- Remind children that there are three things they can do to help others learn about God:
  1. Tell them about Jesus
  2. Pray for those who are telling others about Jesus
  3. Give their mission offerings so that those we can’t tell have a chance to learn about Jesus.

- Encourage the children to collect all 12 cards each quarter.

Millie-Anne and Faithy
Millie-Anne and Faithy needed a place to go after school. Their teacher introduced them to Auntie Essie, a church member and neighbor. Auntie Essie has taught them more about Jesus and takes them to Sabbath School on Sabbath.

Papua New Guinea is a mountainous island nation that lies north of Australia. About 6.3 million people live there. About one in every 25 people is a Seventh-day Adventist.

William
William’s mother told him not to go to the forest to play. But William disobeyed, and he got hurt. William learned that it doesn’t pay to disobey or to lie to his mom.

 ➡ Medical clinics help people who don’t have emergency medical care when they need it. Part of this quarter’s Thirteenth Sabbath Offering will help build more medical clinics in isolated regions of Papua New Guinea.

Lina
Lina shares her faith with her classmates during recess. She helps them understand what it means to follow Jesus. One of her friends is coming to church with her and has told her she wants to follow Jesus. Lina is so happy!

Many people living in the South Pacific islands don’t own a Bible. One Bible can help a whole family learn to follow Jesus. The children’s Thirteenth Sabbath Offering will help buy Bibles for children in the South Pacific.

Apolosa and John
Children who live near the sea learn to fish and swim early in life. But when some boys disobeyed their parents and went fishing alone, they were caught in a sudden storm and could have lost their lives. Prayer saved them.

Papua New Guinea is made up of many islands. Fishing is an important way for families to earn money.

Gabi
Gabi loves studying at the Adventist school, where she learns so much about Jesus. She tells her father what she’s learning and hopes that one day he will go with her to the Adventist church.

Many children in the South Pacific don’t have a Bible in their home. The children’s Thirteenth Sabbath Offering will help buy Bibles for children. One Bible can help a whole family learn about Jesus.

PNG children
Papua New Guinea is a mountainous island nation. Many people live in isolated mountain villages, days from a doctor or a hospital. Thanks to our mission offerings, medical clinics are bringing good medical care to their villages and saving many lives.

Part of this quarter’s Thirteenth Sabbath Offering will help build more clinics in the most isolated areas of Papua New Guinea.

Runaway
Young Andrew saw an angel who told him to go to church. He obeyed, although his parents punished him. Andrew found a family who would teach him about Jesus and let him attend church. Now he tells others about God’s love.

 One Bible can change a whole family. Our Thirteenth Sabbath Offering will help buy Bibles for children in the South Pacific Division to share with their families.

Leanne
Six-year-old Leanne loves to pray for people. She prayed for her dentist and her doctor; she prayed when her father’s car stopped running far from help. “God honors our faith,” she says. And she’s right.

Part of the Thirteenth Sabbath Offering will also help provide villages with solar-powered MP3 players so that those who can’t read or don’t own a Bible can learn about God’s love.

Vahid
Vahid loves God and wants others to know him, too. When his father became seriously ill Vahid and his friends sang for him and prayed for him. Because Vahid shared his faith, his father has given his heart to Jesus.

Children in Papua New Guinea love to share their faith with others. But many don’t have a Bible. Our offering this Thirteenth Sabbath will help buy Bibles for children throughout the South Pacific.

Cassowary
The cassowary [kass-oh-weh-ree] is a large bird, almost as big as an ostrich. One young cassowary taught a good lesson one Sabbath when it marched up the aisle of the church and sat down in front of the pulpit. It watched and listened very quietly during the entire sermon.

Our mission offerings help many people in far-away places hear that Jesus loves them.

Lana
Lana and her family visits her father’s village to tell others about Jesus. She learned how to lead Sabbath School by herself, so when her mother can’t go, Lana leads the singing and tells the Bible story. “I love telling others about Jesus!” she says.

Three years ago our Thirteenth Sabbath Offering helped provide flipcharts (picture rolls) for teachers to use to tell the Bible story each week. The children of South Pacific Division say, “Thank you!”

Mary watched the children walk up the gravel path to the new school. One day she followed them. Now Mary is learning to read and write and love Jesus along with the other children.

Our mission offerings help support Adventist schools throughout the South Pacific. When a child attends an Adventist school, the whole family has a chance to hear about God’s love, good health, and service for Jesus.

Show the children in your Sabbath School class that the boys and girls they hear about in mission stories are real children. These boys and girls are missionaries in their own way because they share God’s love with their friends and family.

These cards will remind the children in your Sabbath School class to pray for the boys and girls they hear about in the mission report. Your children’s prayers will help these children to be brave, kind, helpful, and loving examples so that others might see Jesus in them. Teach children to pray for themselves and others that they can be true missionaries for God.
Send a missionary home with the children in your Sabbath School class each week. Adventist Mission Cards for Kids contains profiles of 12 children featured in the children’s mission quarterly. Each card contains a photo, country information and fun facts about a place the mission offerings go each quarter.

This new product from the General Conference Office of Adventist Mission and Children’s Ministries can make the weekly mission stories tangible for your kids and encourage them to pray for the children that they meet each week in Children’s Mission.
